

All that glitters is not gold, and any injection is not Discogel!

Discogel, the most effective method of non-surgical treatment of disc herniation.

Considering the extraordinary success of Discogel in treating disc herniation, there have been attempts to deceive patients by injecting other products and drugs under similar names.

Please be advised that the effect of these products and drugs cannot replace the therapeutic effects of Discogel and may even be problematic to the patients' health.

Before proceeding to further steps, it is encouraged to contact the exclusive distributor of Discogel; Rahavard Teb Novin Part Co. (www.partmedical.com) to ensure the reliability of the product being used.

Nowadays, Discogel is known in many progressed countries as the most effective, and progressed product causing no complications.

This fact is fortunately confirmed by our experience.

Discogel treats a big problem with a fine needle injection...

This new product is in reality a revolution for treating a very common medical condition (very frightening for affected people) and is able to reduce the pain and related problems considerably.

Discogel is the result of years of research and work of French scientists and has successfully passed numerous scientific challenges in most progressed countries.

Because of this product, many suffering people were able to return to their healthy everyday life.

It is important to note that there are various methods of injection that can be used to reduce pain (due to analgesic and anti-inflammatory properties) but none of them will ever be able to replace the therapeutic effects of Discogel in disc treatment.

Some examples of these drugs are corticosteroids such as Triamcinolone and analgesics such as Marcaine...

These drugs can have positive effects on reducing pain but none of them can be compared to and replace the therapeutic effects of Discogel.

This is because Discogel is able to reduce intradiscal pressure and even in long-term the size of herniated disc. It does also act as a barrier for mediators inducing pain and have supportive effects on the damaged disc.

Discogel is the only micro-invasive method that does not cause any reduction in discs heights.

Attention:

Be aware that the injection of any other substance cannot replace Discogel.
